VOLUME XXIV

COLUMBIA, KENTUCKY, TUESDAY JULY. 19, 1921.

NUMBER 39

Campbellsville.

We accompanied Gen. Garnett and Mrs. Garnett to the capital of Taylor county last Thursday afternoon, remaining in Campbellsville about three hours.

There were very few people who live out of town on the streets, and we remarked that business did not seem to be as thriving as I had formerly noticed. Several gentlemen informed me that the day had been the dullist in that place for the past five years.

Taylor county is like Adair in one respect, in need of a soaking rain, as vegetation in some places is almost dead.

The town is looking forward to an overflow crowd on the 26th. It will be "Band Day," and an automobile will be drawn. The machine is new and is valued at $600. The boys and girls are on the streets, selling tickets 10 cents each, and a large number has been sold. The business men and Mayor of the city will turn the town over to the band organization on that day, and doubtless the streets will be lined with country people, who will come in to see the boys do their very best. There will be fifty in the band.

There is quite a bit of interest being manifested by the Democratic race for Circuit Judge. Both Thurman and Mays have active supporters and some say that the race will be close in Taylor county, while others say that Judge Thurman is in the lead. We have not been in Marion, Washington and Green counties, but from the information coming to us, Thurman will win, but his majority will be small. We do not know of a more competent Judge in the State than the present incumbent, and we take it that his opponent is well versed in the law. In this race Judge Thurman has the advantage, as he is one of the best organizers in the Democratic party.

In the race for the Legislature, Mr. McCubbins seems to be in the lead in Taylor county for the Republican nomination. If he should be nominated he will have all he can do to defeat Noah Loy, of Adair county, who is the Democratic nominee. Adair is largely Republican, but Mr. Loy, confidently believes that he will carry the county. He did three and a half years ago when he was elected School Superintendent. It is believed that Taylor county will go Democratic at the coming election, hence it can be readily seen that Mr. Loy is in the fight.

We found the News-Journal, edited by Mr. J. P. Gozder, in a good, healthy condition, and the force at the Buchanan Lyon Co., busy.

The funeral of Miss Octavia M. Reed was preached in the Presbyterian church, last Wednesday morning by Dr. Frank Cheek, of Danville, who paid a high tribute to the departed. The church was filled with friends, who met to pay respect to an associate and to a true type of womanhood, a Christian in the truest sense. The interment was by the side of loved ones in the city cemetery, floral offerings being many, her grave being covered with fragrant blossoms. She is at rest, the Church she loved and the people of the community poorer.

All parties owing the Farmers Mill Company are requested to call at the mill and settle with Mr. Bradley or Mr. Knifley.

Mrs. J. O. Russell entertained, on her lawn, last Friday evening, a number of special friends. The occasion was a picnic and the many delightful edibles were highly enjoyable, and the social feature of the meet will long be remembered by all who were present.

Mr. John Lee Walker was moving about on crutches last week. He stepped off his porch, at home, spraining his right ankle.

Died at Green River Bridge.

Mr. Henry Sublett, who lived at the Green River Bridge, and was toll-gate keeper at that stand for many years—known to a great many people of Adair county, died Monday night of last week. He was in his 77th year. He leaves a wife, two sons and six sisters. The sisters are all in good health and they were all present at the funeral; Mr. B. F. Chewing, of this place, a life long friend, went over and attended the last sad rites.

Henry Sublett for many years kept an open house, and it was a great pleasure to the way-worn traveler to reach his dwelling at night fall, as the deceased was a very successful fisherman, and in stopping with him, the traveler was at all times assured of fresh caught fish.

The deceased will be greatly missed from the neighborhood. He was buried near his late home.

Decoration—July 30th.

On July 30th, 1921, there will be Memorial service and a decoration of the graves at White's Graveyard, near Tarter postoffice in Adair county, Ky., when the following program will be carried out substantially.

2 Invocation by Rev. Rue Grider.
3 Address by Senator W. F. Neat, giving the history of the families represented in that sacred lot—some of whom are the Jones, Whites, Winfrees and many others.

4 12:30 o'clock, Dinner spread for the crowd.

1:30 o'clock Addresses by Hon. Gordon Montgomery and others.

Featured by the concert to be offered by the local boys and other members of the Kentucky Band School, in a musical aggregation numbering fifty pieces, a splendid program has been arranged for Band Day, which will be held in Campbellsville, July 26, 1921. The local boys have worked hard and are confident of their ability to entertain their home folks at this, their first annual Band Day. Other features of the day are a baseball game, races, a free movie for the kiddies and similar attractions, as an added attraction an automobile will be given away. A number of tickets have been sold, the admission being fifty cents for adults, and it is hoped the occasion will be a great success. Children under twelve years will be admitted free.

Mr. Bruce Montgomery, cashier of the First National Bank and Mr. S. D. Barbee have been doing some trading. The former swaps the residence he formerly occupied out on Greensburg street and twenty-five acres of land lying back of it, for Mr. Barbee's home, near the Fair Grounds, known as the Johnson property. The difference paid by Mr. Barbee, as we are informed, was $1,400. Mr. Barbee will remove to the place he got from Mr. Montgomery.

I have done my best to please you, but I am out my money. If you want to favor me, call and settle your account.

A little son of Garfield Page, of color, was knocked over by an automobile last Thursday afternoon, near the Baptist colored church, on Burkesville street. Fortunately no bones were broken and the boy will get well. We have heard that the car was being driven by a man named Keltner, who stopped the machine, and told the friends of the boy to get a doctor and that he would pay the bill. It is further said that the boy was riding on the coupling pole of a wagon; that he jumped off, lighting in front of the car and the driver did not see him in time to stop.

Died Last Wednesday.

Mrs. S. P. Sullivan, the mother of Mr. V. Sullivan and Mrs. Loren Bradley, of this place, died at her late home, nine miles east of Columbia, last Wednesday at 12 o'clock m. She was about seventy-five years old a very fine old lady, one that had many friends in the neighborhood where she lived for many years. She was a devout member of the Baptist Church. Her ill health lasted for more than a year, hence she was deprived of attending services the last twelve months of her life, but she was always cheerful when spoken to about her declining health, and was ready for her Master's call. Nearly all her family were present when the end came.

She was buried in the Darnell grave yard, after a funeral discourse by the Rev. Scott.

This paper extends its sympathy to the husband and children.

The fast driving in this town must be stopped by the Board of Trustees. There is a law against it, and the Town Marshal, should be instructed to arrest every man who is violating the law. What is the use in having an ordinance if you do not enforce it? It would be too late to act after some person is killed. No set of men was ever known to lose by doing their duty. Enforce the law it matters not who the marshal will have to arrest.

The pike from here to the Taylor county line is in a most fearful condition. There are miles of it full of chug holes. The road belongs to the county, and if it is not repaired the toll gates should be lifted. Take the money that is collected monthly and fill up the chug holes.

The problem of providing proper lighting for country roads is to receive careful consideration in the construction of the Ideal Section of the Lincoln Highway. A number of important main highways have been lighted for certain distances through the open country, but no careful and detailed scientific study of the problems involved has as yet been made. The methods employed hitherto have varied with the ideas and finances of many scattered communities and the results have frequently been disappointing. Arrangements have been made by the Lincoln Highway Association with the General Electric Co., at Schenectady, N. Y., whereby the illuminating experts of that organization will develop an ideal lighting installation which will be put in along the Ideal Section. W. D'Arcy Ryan, chief illuminating engineer of the General Electric Company, the man who originated and developed the lighting arrangements for the Panama Pacific Exposition, will, with the assistance of his staff, develop in consultation with the Association's consulting highway engineers, the best, safest, most economical and satisfactory lighting installation possible. Like the United States Rubber Company, which contributed the funds for the construction of the Ideal Section, the General Electric Company will contribute the service of its experts and the facilities of its laboratories.

Chalk up one for the natives of northern India when it comes to flashes of inventive genius, for they are using weather-proof bags in which automobile tubes are packed, for every purpose from carrying water to nifty head coverings. D. H. Harper, representative of The Good-year Tire & Rubber Company, declares that dusky chauffeurs use the bags for carrying water while filling radiators on the road, while it is a common sight to see rice-filled tube bags in the hands of natives. Perhaps the most unique use to which they are put is as caps while working in the shops. Harper sees the time approaching when the native Indian women will be using them as vanity cases despite the words, "heavy tourist" lettered prominently on the sides. Girls will be girls, race, color or geographical location notwithstanding.

A Home Course in Domestic Science.

"Twenty Lessons in Domestic Science," by Marion Cole Fihser has recently been received by us for review.

This is a complete advanced course in domestic science and home economics boiled down to meet the requirements of the housewife and the student.

The entire course consists of twenty practical lessons—one hundred pages filled with the most valuable information the housewife can possess—heretofore taught only in domestic science schools.

Do you know the relative value of food, which fruits to use for cooking, what purpose salads serve, the correct use of condiments, about proper kitchen equipments, about U. S. Government's bulletin's how to reduce the high cost of living, how to promote and protect your own and your families health, how to make housekeeping simpler and more economical and pleasant by utilizing modern science in the home.

This book, we note, is priced at $2.00 per copy and from what we understand it contains a complete $100.00 college course, condensed, and it is practically free to every interested housewife.

Editor News:—

As my correspondence to your columns has been for a time neglected, a proper reason shall be assigned. Shortly after my last letter, my health gave way while I was principal of a 7 months' school in Wilson county of this state. The indications were favorable to appendicitis; and it was necessary to leave an unfinished term. The beginning of sorrows was an epidemic of Flu, and both my assistants and I were placed under tribute. Hitherto I had been fortunate enough to escape; but the region in which I taught had many cases of a very malignant type. However, I partially recovered, but what I thought was appendicitis turned out to be intestinal indigestion. I slowly rallied from that, and was elected principal of a five-teacher school in a town of 500 inhabitants. Here I had a serious attack of acute indigestion; and later "grip," for a third time in my life; and had a bad wound in the wrist which became infected. But I lost no time; for the ethics of teaching requires that you draw your breath and your salary.

While I have seen that four of my children received high school training and two college equipment; and another of my sons has arranged to attend Berea College, at Berea, Kentucky; my financial success reminds one of a Chicago episode. Two men were talking, when an old man passed along. One remarked to the other, "Twenty-five years ago that old man came here, and his stock in trade was a basket of fruit, and now what do you suppose he is worth?" "One million," was the response. "No." Two million? was the next guess. "No," was again the reply. "Then how much is he worth?" asked the other. "Not a d---d cent, and still owes for the basket, was the answer. But I have worked hard in the educational vineyard, have tried to be a good, industrious citizen; but am not pre-eminent as a financier. But I am in good and numerous company; for Abraham Lincoln said that the Lord loved poor folks, or he would not have made so many of them.

Do you know that at 64, my mind fondly reverts to school scenes at Tabor, when Col. Lucien, Judge Rollin, Sheriff R. M., Mattie, Cora Hurt; and Bascom, Ella, Ada, Kate Garnett; with Belle, Corinna, Loren and Sydney Snow were my companions and school mates? Neither have I forgotten Mrs. M. E. Dohoney—Hurt; Mrs. Susan Miller Hurt, Bob Conover, Philip Voils, A. R. Ben and Billy Pile. Later, I recall part of the same force at M. and F. High School, and the forensic and oratorical contests waged between Chief Justice Rollin Hurt and me. Now, he ranks high in honors and emoluments, while I mark time in the awkward squad as a teacher.

Then I think of the lamented Judge R. T. Garnett, Judge James Garnett, Mr. Charley Taylor, Mr. George Taylor, Mr. Jim Conover, Mr. Steve Conover, Mr. Jasper Snow, Mr. Oscar Pile, Mr. Billy Garnett; and realize that they had few peers in sterling citizenship. Little did I dream, when, in March, 1882, I left there, that I would not return to Kentucky, within two years; a haughty and purse-proud pirate of finance. "Jeemes" said it was so written in the stars, and he was a past-master in astrological lore. I imagined the citizenship of my first territory raising a wailing, Macedonian cry for "The Analysis of The Bible" with the unction of the sweet singer of captive Isreal when weeping by the waters of imperial Babylon. But in my first territory they needed soap and spelling books; and many could have used fine-tooth-combs successfully. I was booted but not spurred; for I was numbered with the infantry. Later, a seneschal of the book-vending cohorts came to my rescue. He said I needed a "hoss," and tried to make me see that the ancient and sad-eyed crow-bait he purchased was a fierce and speedy charger.

She was a ruin; but not monumental. She was neither swifter than an eagle nor stronger than a lion. Her hind hoofs toed in, and her front hoofs toed out. She was not giddy, sportive; and could easily have proved an alibi had she been called fast. I wore a pair of military spurs and carried a cowboy quirt to accelerate her speed. Her fastest spurt of speed was a mile in 12 minutes; and she turned a complete summersault at the home stretch, and it was not a graceful one, either.

Later, I plead for something that didn't look like a dismantled fortress wearing a bridle; and the same jockey bought me another Bucephalus. He had a neck like a giraffe, one eye had lost its pupil and was spectral and glaring. Thunder never disturbed his day dreams; for he could not hear the peal that awoke the Seven Sleepers. I told my friend that this was not what I called a model hoss; but he told me I was a book-worm and no judge. That this animal was sired by a wild zebra, d---d by the whole American public; and that his unique proportions would be a lure and a spell-binder to all prospective customers. It was a case of "Hobson's choice," and I ascended his dorsal fin. Sometimes he fell down hill; and, at others, reversed the laws of gravity and fell up hill. One time I tried to ride in a funeral procession, and the ribald laughter of the wicked came near wakening the late lamented. The sheriff was present, and told me if I didn't remove that travesty on horseflesh he would arrest me. I had incipient jimjams in the west, and "Yaller Janders in the East. I waxed profane, turned over the two equine monstrosities, two spurs, my sample book and a "Morgan saddle to the company; and told them to go to where the woodbine twineth. Then I got a school, the last resort of the lame, the lazy and the unfortunate. I had enough of such horses; and felt that I yearned for no further experience as dispenser of literature; sacred or profane. Teaching has been my special vocation; and I have done about everything else but sell and make whisky.

Another Gouge?

Warning has been sounded in the United States Senate that the coal barons are pulling the wires preparatory to another holdup in the price of coal next winter.

It is not surprising.

On the contrary, it is quite to be expected.

Officialdom has boasted loudly and long of dire punishments to be inflicted upon gougers. In fact, there has been so much of blowing and bunk there has been no room left for action.

Coal barons know this. They have profited for it in the past, and they expect to do so in the future.

The public has been milked so often and so successfully the barons cannot conceive of the possibility of a kick that would upset the bucket.

A United States senator has given public and timely warning of the scheme.

It is up to some one to thwart it.

We have an attorney General of the United States.

We have district attorneys all over the United States.

We have a law that deals with highway and wholesale robbery, whether it be at the point of a gun or the pulling of secret wires by unlawful combinations of plutocrats.

Why should we be robbed again next winter?—Lancaster Record.

The Democratic candidates for Sheriff, County Attorney and Circuit court clerk will not be on the primary ballot for the reason they have no opposition in said party for the nomination. They were nominated by the committee. In some of the magisterial districts there will be some Democratic candidates on the ballot.

Efforts are being made for the return of Billy Sunday to Louisville. The police can not do any thing with that city, and if Sunday can, for God's sake send for him. The trouble Sunday would experience, should he again come to Louisville, the fellows he would want to tell of their meanness would not enter the temple.

The most exciting race that was ever pulled off in Louisville is coming in the contest of Mayor of the city. There will be two candidates, a Democrat, who is likely to be Col. Overton Harris, and the Republican nominee Judge Quin, now a member of the Court of Appeals. The Police department of the present administration has been rotten, and that fact should give Col. Harris the advantage.

Since the prohibition enforcement law went into effect, the whisky men in Kentucky have become immensely wealthy. Their bonded houses locked a great deal of the ardent stolen and sold, and it is being sold all the time, no tax on it. When $50,000 or $75,000 worth of whisky is carried out of the warehouses, a startling story is written about the work of the thieves. Who is mostly interested in the removal of this whisky?

Geo. Gowdy, President of the Turnpike Company from Columbia to Muldroughs Hill, some years ago gave Adair county this end of the pike, running beyond Coburg, provided the county would keep it up, and it should be done. In going from this place to Campbellsville you can tell when you strike the Taylor county end, for it is kept in good condition. Instead of keeping up the Adair end, it gets worse all the time, and the injustice is in having toll gates on this badly piece of road. The wagoners, the automobile men, the drivers of buggies are all complaining. Repair the road.

The Pennsylvania railroad reports 1,007 cars of California fruit shipped in twenty-two days, as against 660 cars in the same period last year, and this is but one of many straws of a coming revival in railroad transportation. The facts are that the shelves are bare all over the country; the railroads must soon begin carrying goods on a large scale. And the next step will be the revival of railroad orders. The chief obstacle to trade is the continued high cost of building. Let that come down and we will not have to wait until next year for brisk business.—Evening Post.

In the last issue of the News we published a short editorial, giving a man or a woman's right to vote in the general election. Some of the candidates are fearful that our meaning was not as clear as it should have been, and requested that a more emphatic statement be made. Here it is: A Republican has no right to vote in a Democratic primary, even should he obligate himself to support the nominee. A Democrat can not vote in a Republican primary, should he agree to vote for the nominee. In the general November election a man or a woman can vote as they please. We hope this will be satisfactory to all concerned.

The land owners and bloated bandholders of England have been fighting the Irish ever since we became a reader. The Irish are occupying a little territory called Ireland but it is not a republic, but governed by England. The Irish want to live in a free country and govern it themselves, and we can see no good reason why this right is denied them. Neither can we see that to make Ireland a republic, that England would suffer. It is nonsense to say that the Irish can not govern their country if given a chance. There are plenty of O'Connors and Parnells living yet. Men of that character have as much or more patronism than the bond holders of England.

A Western Congressman asks why it is that we must wait for France to pay us the money she owes. In the first place we are willing to wait to convenience a former ally. In the second place, France cannot pay, without seriously embarrassing herself, until she cashes in some of the German indemnity bonds, and hears something about the vast sums that are owing to her in Russia. France will pay in the end. The debtor with whom we are destined to have trouble is Italy! Italy owes us far over one billion dollars; with the interest it is now not much under two billions. And Italy has not the chances of cashing in from outside, sources that has France.—Louisville Post.

AT 10 A. M. ON.

A. C. Coffey's 98 Acres---Subdivided

This splendid farm is located on the Hustonville & McKinney turnpike about one mile from the thriving town of McKinney with her graded school, churches, railroad station on the Southern Railroad, a good shipping point; bank, stores mill, good citizenship, etc., and about three miles from that model progressive town of Hustonville. This is a good strong productive Hanging Fork land. Fine hemp, tobacco and corn land. Practically all lays level, in fine neighborhood; the right size tract. Splendid improvements. Just the place you have been looking for.

IMPROVEMENTS.—New elegant two-story residence of eight rooms, hall, three porches, good cellar, large tobacco and stock barn and all other necessary outbuildings.

A. J. Weddle's 157 Acres---Subdivided

This fertile Hanging Fork farm is also a part of the S. M. Owens farm and joins the tract above described. Rich productive soil. A money maker and dividend producer.

Improvements consist of eight room dwelling, porches, etc., two nice tenant houses, 15 acre tobacco barn, extra large stock barn and a world of other outbuildings. Fine orchard of splendid variety of fruit covering several acres. An abundance of everlasting water, well, springs, ponds, creek, etc.

This farm will be subdivided into two tracts; 127 acres with main dwelling, barns, etc., and 30 acres with tenant house; 33 acres in corn; 45 acres in wheat stubble sown to timothy and clover, good stand; 40 acres in oats sown to timothy and clover with good stand; 6½ acres in tobacco; 24 acres in timothy meadow; 10 acres in blue grass sod.

This is an IDEAL STOCK FARM. A regular tractor farm. You will be able to buy exactly what you want at this sale. It will be offered in a good many different ways. Will sell it in whatever way you want it—a part of the Coffey land with a part of the Weddle land and vice versa.

The personality consists of one good eight-year-old driving and work horse, perfectly gentle; one team of good work mules; one nice Shetland pony and colt; one registered Angus Bull, a dandy; five good steers, weight about 800 pounds; three yearling heifers; one heifer calf; two registered Durock sows; six large brood sows and 40 pigs; 50 good stock ewes; 150 barrels of corn; lot of hay; one rubber-tire buggy; one No. 5 De Laval cream separator; one practically new disc harrow; one good Johnson binder; one Superior wheat drill, good as new; two turning plows; one Ford touring car and other things too numerous to mention.

This will be just as Absolute Sale as any Master Commissioner Sale ever held in Lincoln county or any other county. Messrs Weddle and Coffey have already made their arrangements to go in other business. They know they have got to lose on this land and their minds are fully made up to take the loss let it be whatever it may. It is going to sell and sell right. Remember our contract calls for an ABSOLUTE SALE for the HIGH DOLLAR without reserve, by-bid or limit. Don't let this opportunity pass you by.

Just get two facts firmly fixed in your mind. First—the last bid on sale day gets the deed to this property. Second—the date WEDNESDAY, JULY 20th at 10 A. M., rain or shine, and be there and YOU may be the lucky one to own this dandy farm at a bargain. Terms exceedingly easy and made known on day of sale.

We will sell with immediate possession—all crops. To the person guessing closest to what this land will sell for we will give away $10.00 in gold absolutely free and to person guessing next closest $5.00 in gold. Dinner on the ground. We invite the closest inspection of these valuable holdings.

For further particulars, see, write or phone either the owners, A. C. Coffey and A. J. Weddle, Hustonville, Kentucky, or

OIL AND GAS

Adair, Cumberland, Russell
Counties, Kentucky.

BY E. T. KEMPER.

Material for the big refinery, in course of erection at Creelsboro by the J. E. Carnahan Company, is now being rushed to the location, and the work is progressing very satisfactorily.

Mr. Chas. J. Pogue, general manager for the Old English-American Oil Company, Birmingham, was in town the latter part of the week and reported they would soon drill well No. 1 on the J. S. Williams farm, Creelsboro, where they are confidently expected to make a great "strike."

Well No. 2 of the Reed Oil Syndicate, Columbia, now drilling on the farm of Campbell Bros. in the north end of Clinton county, Creelsboro field, is expected to be completed during the week. Considerable gas has been encountered, and the drill has penetrated some very fine sand.

Mr. W. R. Abbott, a well-known civil engineer, with offices in Lexington and Monticello, and who is prominently connected with Wayne county oil development, was an interested visitor to this section during the last week. This was his maiden trip to this territory, but he was so well pleased with the outlook here that he intends to come again soon.

Messrs. G. W. Francis, connected with the Petroleum Exploration Company, and C. M. Purdy, representing the Frick and Lindsey Company, manufacturers of oil field supplies at Pittsburg, were recent Lexington visitors to this territory.

Dr. R. M. Armstrong, of Creelsboro, who was in town the latter part of the past week, stated while here that he and his associates are arranging to have a number of test wells drilled in the very near future on the north side of the river near where the Carnahan refinery is now being built. They are confident of encountering pay sands there at a reasonable depth.

Dr. J. W. Goggin, president of the Bagdad Oil Corporation, Chicago, arrived here Saturday, and later left for Creelsboro where the concern has valuable holdings, and some good production. Dr. Goggin has very prominently connected with the development of that field ever since its discovery, some two years ago, no one having accomplished more results there than he, and he is still "on the job."

An erroneous opinion is prevalent in the minds of many otherwise well informed people, regarding the low prices now prevailing for crude oil, in that they attribute it to over production. Such is not the case at present by any means, for production has been showing only a fairly normal increase for months past. Two words cover the situation—UNDER CONSUMPTION. Not a wheel turns, from the smallest wrist watch to the largest battleship afloat, but that it is dependent upon oil, and when the wheels of industry are again revolving full capacity then, and not until then, will you see crude oil prices going back to the proper levels.

Messrs. C. E. Hawk, chairman, and G. W. Ginther, manager, of the Daytucky Development Association, Dayton, Ohio, were in town Monday last, having come over from Russell county, where they are drilling well No. 1 on the J. C. Burchett farm, located in Smith's Bottom, south side of Cumberland river. They reported a fine flow of gas at 150 feet, with very encouraging indications of a good oil "strike" at no distant date.

Mr. J. V. Brooks, consulting engineer, Louisville, and who is connected with the Reed Oil Syndicate, of this city, arrived the first of the week to visit the field operations at Creelsboro. Mr. Brooks is very optimistic over the future of this section as a real oil field.

Mrs. C. S. Harris daughters and sons, of West Point, Miss., who visited here four weeks, left for their home this morning. It has been a great pleasure to the people of Columbia and many in the vicinity of town, to entertain them and every body was sorry when the time came for them to take their departure. They travel in an auto and it is truly hoped that they will have a pleasant journey home.

Take a fond heart from its home on the hearth,
It will sing of the loved ones to the end of the earth."

Violates Pledge.

Describing various provisions of the Fordney Tariff bill as for the benefit of trusts and monopolies at the expense of the consumers, Representative James A. Frear, Wisconsin, Republican member of the House Ways and Means Committee, made public a minority report which he will present to the House.

Mr. Frear asserted that rates of duty which are excessive have been imposed upon many commodities, including cement, lime, glass, aluminum and tungsten, all of which commodities, he said, are under the control of monopolies and trusts and are "well able to walk alone under lower rates."

Discussing the effect of the bill on agriculture Mr. Frear says that it gives reasonable protection to many farm products. No justification exists, however, he says, for cutting 1919 tariff rates on hemp straw grown by the farmer from 5 to 2 cents nor for increasing hemp yarn rates from 6 cents a pound as in the Payne-Aldrich law to 8 cents a pound, or a 33 per cent increase to the manufacturer of hemp yarn.

Mr. Frear, in his minority report, dissents from portions of the bill for two reasons. In the first place, he says they are in violation of the Republican party platform pledge that tariff should be reasonable in amount and so adjusted as to prevent undue exactions by monopolies and trusts."

In the second place he objects to provisions on the ground that they are fundamentally indefensible.

The Broken Pitcher.

Falmouth Outlook: The old pitcher may make many trips to the well, but it finally falls and smashes to pieces. Gov. Morrow has been running his pardon mill pretty regularly ever since he has been in office. The pitcher has slipped from his hand a time or two, but did not fall hard enough to be smashed into pieces. The Governor pardoned Frank Blair, a notorious criminal with a bad record, and has made a mistake that has caused him humiliation. He has acknowledged the corn, but that does not pacify an enraged public. It is difficult to send a man to the penitentiary, and when he is placed there the keys should be thrown away. Gov. Morrow has two more years to serve and if he sustains his pardon record through these next twenty-four months he can convert the penitentiary into a sleeping porch.

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarette aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.

Flays Administration.

Washington, July 1.—Charging the Administration with violation of its campaign pledges by its failure to take any steps for rendering assistance to the Armenians, Representative Ralph Gilbert, Eighth Kentucky district, the only Democrat to defeat a Republican incumbent in the Congressional elections last November, in a speech on the floor of the House today declared that "the present foreign policy of the United States finds its parallel in the exclamation of the first murderer. 'Am I my brother's keeper?'"

Since taking his seat last March Mr. Gilbert has given special attention to a study of the Government's foreign policies, and in his maiden speech, delivered several weeks ago, attacked the Porter peace resolution as a "legislative abortion to relieve the Republican Administration of its own folly."

In speaking today on the Government's attitude toward Armenia Mr. Gilbert said:

THE PARTY PLATFORMS.
"I am advised that no action is contemplated by the Foreign Affairs Committee on the Armenian situation. This is surprising since both parties in their platforms promised relief. The Republican party is in absolute control of all legislation and responsible for all acts of omission as well as of commission. Therefore, the majority in Congress should not be content simply to oppose the mandate for Armenia asked for by President Wilson."

"The Christian people of America demand from those controlling legislation that something be done to help Armenia. Our public conscience, if we have any left, must be shocked by the Armenian outrages, and if we would not be too late, we must hasten to her relief with material, tangible and substantial help."

In reciting Turkish cruelties toward the Armenians, Mr. Gilbert said:

HE PICTURES TURKISH CRUELITIES
"Sixteen hundred Armenians had their throats cut in the prison at Divarbelsir; the bishop there was burned alive while the scene was accompanied with music. Seven hundred children in the orphanage at Genage were drowned in a lake. After the massacre at Benia there was not a male over 13 years of age left alive. Fire was set to large wooden sheds in Alidjan in which vast numbers of women and children had been collected and they were burned to death. Twenty-four thousand Armenian were slaughtered in three days in Ardjish and three neighboring villages. Great armies of them were driven into the desert and starved."

"The result in figures tells only too well how effective this extermination has been, for Armenia with its previous 40,000,000 of people now has only 4,000,000 left."

Turning to the Republican leaders in the House, Mr. Gilbert continued:

"Armenia is the challenge that Christianity places before the nations of the world and yet we have not answered the call. What is this Administration and the majority in this House going to do about it? Nothing, I suppose. It is the pride of this Administration to be unconcerned in the affairs of other nations. Our foreign policy finds its parallel in the exclamation of the first murderer, 'Am I my brother's keeper?'"

Hot Weather Pointers.

To prevent losses to hogs in transit during the hot weather, the Live Stock Department of the Southern Railway System has issued the following suggestions to shippers:

Haul or drive hogs to station in ample time to allow them to become rested and cool before loading.

When ordering a car for loading hogs, insist upon a clean one bedded with sand, clay or earth.

Wet thoroughly the bedding and interior of car before loading.

Give only a small feed of grain before shipping. Heavy feed means more body heat generated.

Load not more than one hour before the train is to depart.

Load slowly and carefully. Avoid excitement and do not beat or bruise the animals.

Load not to exceed 14,000 pounds fat hogs and 16,000 pounds stock hogs in a standard 36-ft. car during warm weather.

Have water applied to the bedding in the car at available points immediately after the train stops.

Use ice on floor of car whenever possible three blocks to a car.

Robert H. Flora, a Warren county farmer, was killed by heat. He weighed 364 pounds.

Rockwell City, Iowa.

July 2nd, 1921.

Dear Editor:—

As I have wandered a long ways from my birth place, I feel like I want to tell you something about Iowa. I have been in nine different States and Iowa is the prettiest state I ever saw in my life, but I wouldn't give Old Kentucky for my part for all I have been in. If God spares my life until the 11th of July, I will start back to my Old Kentucky Home at Frankfort, Ky., where I live with my nephew and niece Mr. and Mrs. Jeffries. I came out here the 22nd of May to visit my niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hutchison, of Rockwell City, Iowa. Also visited Mr. Ed Vanhoy and wife, and Mr. Owen Cundiff and wife, at Somers, Iowa. I met Everett Cundiff, Elmer Cundiff and Frank Triplett who are here from Kentucky. The crops look fine out here. The soil is so rich it looks black when it rains and the mud sticks so tight you can hardly pull out of it. Rain is needed badly in this community now. Well, I will bring this letter to a close by saying my nephew and niece and their little daughter, Mary Elizabeth, and myself are well. As I take the Adair County News, I hope to see my letter in the News.

Your Friend,
Mrs. Mary H. Floyd.

The Democrats in the House denounced the Republican tariff bill as a "plunder plan" and claimed that the principal beneficiaries under it were those who had contributed large sums to the Harding campaign fund.

Gradyville.

Owing to the afflictions of your reporter from this section, he has been unable to contribute any news to your valuable paper for the past months.

We are very dry in this section at this time. There is less water in Big creek at the present than there has been for ten years.

Our growing crops of tobacco and corn are almost perished. If it does not rain in a few days the yield of both will be very short.

The wheat has all been threshed in our community and as we get it, the quantity and quality were very good.

Mrs. Moore and her little daughter, of Louisville, spent a few days of last week visiting her uncle, C. O. Moss and family.

Mr. James A. Keen, who has been confined to his room for several weeks with a complication of troubles, is improving at this time.

Remember that Dr. Hart, of Greensburg, will preach at Union on the 5th Sunday. Come out every body and hear a good sermon.

G. T. Flowers and wife, of Columbia, after spending a few days at Red Lick, returned home the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Keen and daughter, of Columbia, visited their father and family here, the first of the week.

We have had several tobacco buyers in this section during the past two weeks, looking at the tobacco that is unsold, offering from 10 to 20 cents per lb. The grade of the weed in this section is some of the best and our farmers are not willing to turn it loose at the present prices.

Messrs. W. L. Grady and C. H. Yates treated their dwellings with a new coat of paint, which adds greatly to the appearance of their beautiful homes.

Mr. Samuel Walker, better known as Doc, one of Columbia's efficient merchants, passed through our place a few days ago, en route for Nell to spend a few days with his relatives and friends.

One of our neighbor boys and old friend, Robert Davis, of Lebanon, called in to see us for a few minutes one day last week, while en route for his boyhood community, Pickett Chapel, where he will spend a few days with his relatives.

We are glad to report that Mr. J. A. Wheeler, who recently returned from Louisville, where he underwent a very serious operation, is improving and it is hoped by his many friends that it will only be a very short time when he will be able to be out again, seeing after his business affairs.

Our free school commenced here last Monday, with the same teachers that we had last season with a very good attendance. This community could not have been better pleased with their teachers, the Misses Cundiff, of Columbia. They taught for us last season and our children one and all advanced fast with their studies, and there was not a single discord in our community, as we ever heard of in regard to our school.

Dr. Sam Taylor and family, of Montpelier, called in to see us for a few minutes one morning last week, on their return from Nell, where they had spent a day or so visiting. We were all glad to see them as they resided in our town several years ago.

Mrs. A. R. Keltner and her son, Graham, of Campbellsville, accompanied by the Misses Collins, of Greensburg, spent a few days visiting their relatives and friends in this community last week, and while here Miss Artie Collins and Mr. Graham Keltner motored over to Columbia and at the residence of Eld. Z. T. Williams they had the conjugal knot tied. The contracting parties both were formerly of this city, but for the last year or so have been residing at Greensburg and Campbellsville. This union is the culmination of a long courtship. Their many friends in this town and community wish them a long and happy life and may their pathway be strewn with flowers.

The Liberty and Fairplay ball teams crossed bats the 9th of July at Casey Creek. The score stood 18 to 19 in favor of Liberty.

Prof. B. F. Brown, of Chicago, has just closed a 20 nights singing school at this place.

Mr. Robert Arnold and family, of Columbia, visited at his father's, Mr. John Arnold, one day last week.

Mrs. C. M. Bault and son, Dempsey, visited Mrs. Ora Mae Beam's, of Russell Co., from Saturday till Monday.

School began July 11th at this place under the management of Mrs. Anna Hovious and Mrs. Elby Christie.

Miss Grace Dunbar is very low at this writing.

Mrs. Mattie Feese and daughter, Mrs. Homer Roberts, of Campbellsville, visited the Misses Hancock last Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Arnold and family visited the latter's mother, Mrs. Rebecca Cox, last Saturday and Sunday.

Aunt Lizzie Humphress, who had a stroke of paralysis, is better at this writing.

We are certainly proud of our

CONGRESS APPROPRIATES A QUARTER MILLION DOLLARS FOR HORSE BREEDING.

Money To Be Spent Under Supervision of Army Officers To Raise More Thoroughbred Horses for Cavalry Purposes.

OTHER GOVERNMENTS SPEND MUCH MORE.

Realizing the necessity of government interest, supervision and participation in breeding of thoroughbred horses, if the United States is to take her rightful position with the other countries of the world, the United States Congress has made an appropriation of a quarter of a million dollars to be expended in horse breeding.

While this is a very small amount when compared with the millions of expenditure made by the governments of England, France, Italy and Spain in this work, it is being effectively used to enlarge the number of thoroughbred horses suitable for cavalry mounts.

In explaining the plans of the United States government for the breeding of more and better horses, Col. C. E. Hawkins, Quartermaster Corps, United States Remount Service, says:

"The world war brought out the fact that the National Defense demands, not only thousands upon thousands of horses and mules, but horses and mules of good breeding. Quality and breeding in the horse and mule is what gives them the staying power in danger and emergency, as well as for the less spectacular, but not less important, service in connection with our agricultural and commercial pursuits. What is true in the man is true in the beast. Courage in the soldier we call morale. In either case the quality is that of the will to stand when threatened by the common instinct to falter which means failure and defeat.

"The United States is the great horse and mule market of the world. Our allies depended upon us for the major supply of their war horses and mules. Thousands upon thousands were sold to the British, French, Italian, Belgian, Greek and other governments. The supply that could be sold was limited only by the ships available for their transportation abroad, and by the fact that rations were naturally of the first import.

"The first cry from abroad was for men, then for foodstuffs to feed their millions of soldiers and their own men. Next came the demand for ammunitions—the stuff that made the hellish fire that raked the enemy; his theatre of operations and his lines of communication. On the heels of the call for these necessities we had the one for the war horse and the war mule, in quantities never before approached.

"Automotive vehicles were used in great numbers. Yes, that is true, and it will be true in the future. But war and the horse and the mule continue to be inseparable. The great military migrations of the past—those, indeed, of civilization itself—are so linked with the horse that his production and improvement may be said to have been co-existent with them. Motive power has not killed the horse and mule industry. Every member of the species has a valuable and important place to fill, motive power to the contrary notwithstanding. The latter and the horses will go along together, each filling an important and useful sphere.

"The breeding of horses and mules, far from being abated, should be practiced in the spirit of the utmost optimism and confidence. True, the horse and mule market is upset. The demand, however, for every class will come again before the colts now bred mature. All our best informed horsemen, breeders and farmers recognize this fact and advise doubling our attention to the work of breeding.

"Meanwhile better horses and mules should be the aim of every breeder. We need better blood, more quality; hence, a more valuable animal. A well bred, sound animal, of good conformation and quality of any class, will always bring a high price and a handsome profit to the breeder. It is the scrub or ordinary animal that loses the breeder and farmer money. The scrub eats as much forage and takes as much care as the high class animal; and one has nothing at maturity. The progeny of high class, pure bred stallions, that have proved their courage, endurance and speed in competition, and selected farm mares, will bring the breeder an increasing profit as the time goes on.

"The Government is backing the production of these better horses and mules. This work is being accomplished by the War Department through the Remount Service, under the Quartermaster General of the U. S. Army.

"The last Congress appropriated a quarter of a million dollars to further these plans. The project also is being backed by an auxiliary society of the Remount Service, known as the American Remount Association, composed of army officers, civilians, breeders, farmers, ranchmen, horsemen, owners of race horses, drivers and riders, wagon, buggy, and harness and saddle manufacturers—in short, of almost all the representative organizations interested in the future of the horse and mule. The objects to be accomplished may be summarized as follows:

"To promote and improve the production of horses and mules.

"To stimulate the breeding of high class animals of the equine species, with a view to improving their blood lines and conformation, and thereby to enhance their usefulness and market value.

"To protect owners, users and breeders and dealers against unjust and unreasonable legislation.

"To gather, co-ordinate and disseminate data on breeding, feeding, stable management and care of animals.

"To promote and encourage horse shows, race and hunt meets, polo, horse fairs and riding and driving by means of competing for prizes and ribbons.

"To encourage the use of the horse commercially and for sport in healthy, outdoor exercises.

"To save the riding and driving horses from degeneration and extinction.

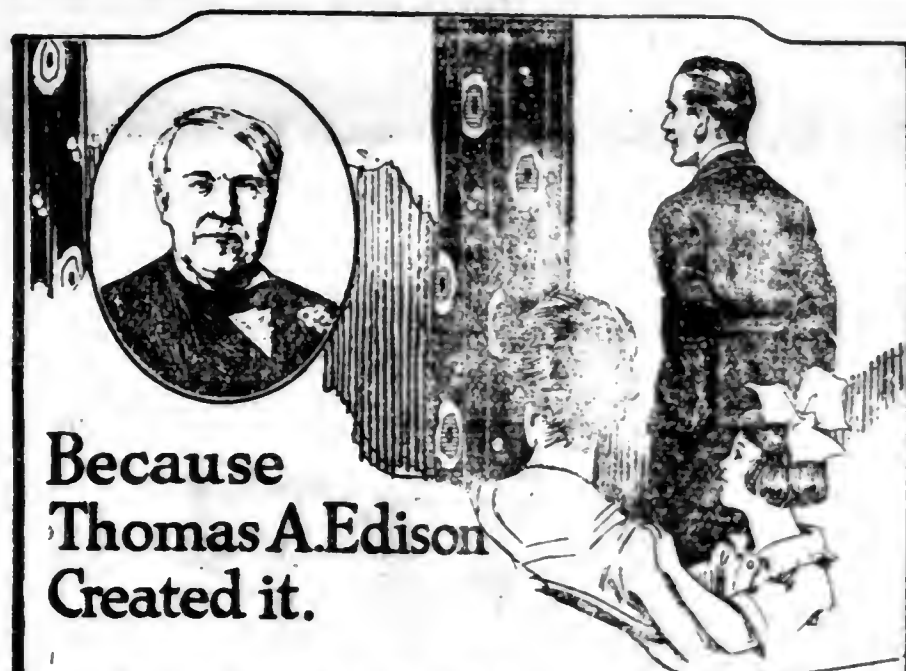

"To imbue our people with a patriotic understanding that the horse and mule is necessary for our National Defense.

"Our immediate concern is to save the riding and driving horse and high class race horse from extinction. We want to produce a truly American type of cavalry horse—a horse with breeding and quality, as well as bone and substance—a weight carrier and the best general purpose horse known—a horse that will weigh from 1,000 to 1,250 pounds, standing from fifteen hands, one inch to sixteen hands, tight made, with good gaits and action—a walk, trot, gallop horse that can carry weight and follow the hounds across country—that the family can drive to church and also one that can hold his own in hard work on the farm—a horse that can be used to advantage and economically any and everywhere, except in very heavy draft. This type of horse has splendid looks, quality, action and vigor—a wonderful all-purpose horse for the farmer, and one that can be kept at a minimum cost. Almost every commercial and military use will be met by the progeny of this breeding scheme, dependent primarily upon the size, quality and blood lines of the mares used in breeding.

"Among the stallions to be placed throughout the United States this spring will be over one hundred head of HIGH CLASS REGISTERED THOROUGHBREDS, big horses with plenty of body, bone and substance. These stallions placed in the stud through Government agencies, will be available to farmers and breeders at a minimum fee. The Government does not expect to make money, but to make it possible and feasible for the farmer and breeder to get the service of a high class approved stallion for their good mares. The object is to produce animals of real value and use that will not only pay for their rearing, but bring a handsome profit when mature. We expect the progeny at maturity to make general purpose horses, cavalry horses, riding and driving horses, show horses, hunters, race horses, polo ponies, depending largely upon the mares selected for breeding and the care in rearing the colts; a high class horse, both for peace and war, a link in the chain of our National Defense. The colts will belong to the breeder. The Government will have no strings on them. The owner will be privileged to sell them to whomsoever he pleases at any time. However, the Government expects to depend upon this source for its supply of animals in times both of peace and war.

"The New York Jockey Club, I may add, has established a half-bred registry at Avon, New York, with Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth in charge. This makes it possible for the farmers and owners of these colts, which will be half-breds, to register same at a nominal fee of $2.00, which registration is strongly recommended, because, when the farmer or breeder desires to dispose of these colts, a better price will be paid by civilians for the registered colts than for those that are not registered. In addition to this, registration is necessary if any type or breed of horse is to be established and recognized. All necessary information in regard to this registration can be had by writing to Half-bred Registration Bureau, New York Jockey Club, Avon, New York.

"Plans for an organization similar to that in charge of Mrs. Wadsworth are now under way in the interests of Kentucky breeders and farmers."
